

BRAND IDENTITY GUIDELINES

natissy

by nature

Reusable organic cotton panty liners for women who want everyday comfort without chemicals or waste.

01 Brand at a Glance

"by nature"

natissy makes reusable organic cotton panty liners for women who are done with the irritation, plastic waste, and hidden chemicals in conventional pads. The brand was born from a simple desire: to create something purely organic, comfortable, and kind to bodies and the environment.

Every natissy product is a small act of care. For the person wearing it, and for the planet.

The Customer

A woman who has experienced irritation or discomfort from conventional pads and is actively looking for a cleaner, gentler, more sustainable alternative. She reads labels, cares about what goes on her body, and wants her everyday choices to reflect her values.

Positioning

Reusable organic cotton panty liners for women who want everyday comfort without chemicals or waste.

02 Logo

The natissy logo features a small bird resting among layered leaves in earthy greens, oranges, and browns, with "natissy" in a rounded green wordmark and "by nature" in warm terracotta beneath it. It is warm, natural, and immediately recognizable.

05 Imagery

natissy photography should feel gentle, real, and grounded in nature. Every image should reinforce the feeling of comfort, care, and naturalness.

Direction

- Natural light with soft, warm shadows. No harsh studio or flash lighting.
- Props that echo nature: cotton plants, green leaves, linen fabric, wooden surfaces, potted plants.
- Models look relaxed and at ease, not posed or clinical.
- Colors in the shot should echo the brand palette: soft greens, warm neutrals, creamy whites.
- Product shots highlight the texture and softness of the cotton fabric.
- Lifestyle images show a calm, comfortable home environment.

What to Avoid

- Bright neon or high-contrast dramatic lighting.
- Overly polished or generic stock imagery.
- Plastic, synthetic, or clinical-looking environments.
- Images that feel sterile or medical.

The Feeling to Aim For

Like a quiet Sunday morning. Soft light through a window, a mug of tea, something that feels taken care of. That is the emotional world natissy imagery lives in.

Tone by Context

- Product inserts and ads: Shorter, punchy, benefit-first. Lead with comfort or relief.
- Emails: Warmer and more personal, like a note from a friend who knows their stuff.
- Product descriptions: Honest and specific, focused on how it feels and what it is made from.

07 Audience

Who Buys

Women, primarily 25 to 45, who have experienced irritation, itching, or discomfort from conventional disposable pads. They are eco-conscious, read ingredient labels, and are willing to invest a little more in products that align with their values.

The Problem They Have

Conventional pads contain plastics, synthetic fragrances, and chemical absorbents that cause irritation for many women. They also generate significant landfill waste. Many customers do not immediately connect their discomfort to the materials in their products until they discover an alternative.

The Transformation natissy Delivers

After switching to natissy, she feels comfortable throughout the day with no irritation or itching. She feels good about her choice, both for her own body and for the environment. It is a small daily act of self-care that also feels responsible.

What Motivates the Purchase

Irritation relief comes first. Eco-friendliness is the second pull. Once she tries it, comfort and softness keep her coming back and referring to friends.

08 Using This Brand Book

Your Single Source of Truth

This file powers the entire 5 Day Customer Challenge. Days 1 to 5 (product insert, landing page, post-opt-in guide, email sequence, and review dashboard) all read from the `brand-book.md` YAML block to get your colors, fonts, voice, and audience automatically. You never have to re-enter them.

You can edit any section any time as natissy evolves. This brand book is also fully usable outside the challenge: share it with designers, copywriters, or anyone creating content for natissy.

Before Day 2: Two Things to Add

- Klaviyo List ID and public API key in `brand-book.md` so the opt-in form captures subscribers.
- Logo file saved to `assets/logo.png` so it embeds in your insert and landing page.

Challenge Overview

- Day 0 (today): Brand book and workspace setup.
- Day 1: Product insert: the card that turns buyers into subscribers.
- Day 2: Opt-in landing page, deployed to Shopify.
- Day 3: Post-opt-in free guide, hosted and linked.
- Day 4: Automated email welcome sequence.
- Day 5: Review and repeat-buyer dashboard.
